Rice Balls (Thai Bua Loy)

A classic Asian dessert, sometimes known as Mochi or as they call it in Thailand, Bua Loy. It is usually made from rice flour and various fillings like root crops or black sesame. Our version of Bua Loy uses our signature blend of starch to be able to achieve a unique and beautiful texture. Our Bua Loy is soaked in syrup and we are able to pack it to be shelf-stable for at least 18 months. It could be enjoyed with ice cream, shaved ice, or just on its own!

Ingredients:

Water, Sugar, Black sesame, Thickeners, Milk, Glutinous rice starch, Sweetener, Potato starch, Rice bran oil, Emulsifier, Wheat gluten, Acidity regulator, Konjac powder, Trehalose

Bubble Pearl

Milk tea can be bought all over the world and is best enjoyed with an additional texture to it. Bubble Pearls adds a great and unique texture to your beverages like Thai Milk Tea, as well as desserts like ice cream, Korean Bing Su, and Filipino Halo-Halo.

Our Bubble Pearls are also soaked in syrup and we are able to pack it to be shelf-stable for at least 18 months.
